Description

Acitores Organería y Arte, SL, led by master organ builder Federico Acitores, specializes in the manufacturing and restoration of pipe organs. With over 40 years of experience, the company is based in Torquemada, Palencia in Spain and operates from a purpose-built facility spanning 1,500 square meters designed specifically for organ construction. From this base, Acitores has carried out extensive projects not only in Spain but also internationally, with works completed in countries such as Portugal, Germany, the Philippines, and Ecuador.

In addition to building new organs, Acitores also provides restoration services for personal properties. These services are offered either directly by the company or in collaboration with other firms, depending on the specific requirements of the restoration projects. This blend of manufacturing new instruments and restoring existing ones showcases Acitores' commitment to preserving the rich tradition of organ music while also catering to the needs of diverse clients around the world.
