Description

This small organ, likely constructed at the end of the 19th century, features a mechanical cone chest and is "squeezed" into its location on a balcony between the tower chair, suggesting it may have been relocated from another place. The entire instrument is housed within a swell box, with shutters located directly behind a non-speaking facade. The craftsmanship resembles that of E. Schultz, an organ builder from Daugavpils, whose 1892-built organ is situated relatively nearby in Elerne.
