

Talarn, Església parroquial de Sant Martí de Tours

Sant Martí , 25630 Talarn, Spain

Builder

J. Boscà

Year

ca. 1746

Period/Style

Neo-Baroque

Keyaction

tracker/mechanical

Tuning

Unknown

Description

It was built in 1746 by the Barcelona organist Josep Boscà de Seringena. It has been preserved intact to this day, except for the outer hornwork, which was reconstructed by the organist Gerhard Grenzing, from the few preserved samples, when the organ was completely restored in 1975.